

Donate Nonperishable Food Items for Hurricane Harvey Relief

The Southern University System is collecting donations to support the Hurricane Harvey relief efforts. To do its part, SUNO is collecting nonperishable food items, such as canned goods, rice, cereal, etc., until Tuesday, Sept. 5, 2017. Donations may be dropped off in boxes located in each building on the Park and Lake Campuses.

In addition, you can help with this humanitarian relief effort by making contributions to a special 2017 Texas Flood Fund established by the SU System Foundation to accept donations that will go directly to support victims of the devastating flooding in Texas and Southwest Louisiana as a result of Hurricane Harvey. Click here to make a contribution: <https://foundation.sus.edu/texas-flood-relief/>.

"I am asking everyone to wholeheartedly participate in this effort," said Chancellor Lisa Mims-Devezin. "We are our brothers and sister's keepers. We can feel the pain that the Hurricane Harvey victims are going through because we have gone through the same process as a result of Hurricane Katrina.

"I want to thank everyone in advance for their commitment to this relief effort!"